Welcome to Fr Gervase travel Blog

16th October 2020

Coucou brothers and sisters.

Just saying hello to you. I'm well and wishing you the same
Little news for Fr Gervase travel blog on your parish web

Burton was a base for my mission appeals but the mission appeals were disrupted by the covid19 pandémie. I was assigned to 20 parishes in Salford and Brendwood diocese respectively where I would have celebrated masses and talk about the spiritan vocation, life and mission.

I visited only three parishes two in Brendwood and one in Salford, before the lockdown which led to the closure of churches.

I have been in Chester after the lockdown for a temporal appointment as community bursar in our retirement home (our priests who went on mission in different parts of the world and are back now on retirement).

I'm here till the end of the year when the new postings shall be out.

Being in Chester, I visited North Wales which is not far. I visited icons like the holy well of St. Winnifred, Padre Pio retreat centre, the Great Orme etc

3rd December 2019

Good morning brothers and sisters. I have had pleasant holidays with my family and friends at home. I spent two months in all but it was still short and I wish I could stay longer. The sun was shining bright with a warm weather. I eventually obtained my tier 2 visa and came back via Istanbul Turkey by Turkish airlines. I landed safely at Birmingham and currently at Burton on Trent as assistant Parish priest. Hope all is well in Danbury and South Woodham Ferrers? My love to all parishioners and Peter (Parish Priest). Wishing you all a fruitful advent, it is bye for now.

40s Night May 2019

Saturday evening, 4 May 2019 saw parishioners and friends and families turn back the clock to the year 1940. The evening was a great success and was a wonderful evening of laughter, music and entertainment by The Femmes, who were quite simply fantastic and very professional. Over 80 people attended, many in fancy dress as you can see from the photos!!

Fr Gervase travelled to Birmingham on Tuesday 9 April

To support Alexander Johnson, second year seminarian at St Mary's College, Oscott, as he was instituted in the ministry of Reader by the Right Reverend Paul Swarbrick, Bishop of Lancaster. This is one of the first steps toward priesthood and was previously one of the "minor orders" which lead to the major ordinations, first to the transitional diaconate and finally to priesthood.

Alexander receiving the Holy Scriptures from Bishop Paul Swarbrick of Lancaster,

During the Mass, Bishop Paul invited everyone to pray and ask God "to bless these servants who have been chosen for the ministry of reader" that "they may be faithful to the work entrusted to them, proclaim Christ to the world, and so give glory to our Father in heaven." On giving each candidate a Bible, the bishop said: "Take this book of the holy Scripture and be faithful in handing on the word of God, so that it may grow strong in the hearts of his people."

Alexander is one of four seminarians from Brentwood who are discerning for the priesthood at Oscott. Please keep Alexander and the other seminarians in your prayers; pray also for vocations to the priesthood.
